Pope Paul VI has described the purpose of a pastoral council
to examine and consider all that relates to pastoral work and to offer practical conclusions on these matters, so that the life and activity of the People of God may be brought into greater conformity with the Gospel.

In this description, we find three tasks
assigned to the pastoral council:
to examine, to consider, and to recommend.

Please join us at the next Pastoral meeting. Ask the Holy Spirit if you are being called to a more active participation in your Church community!

No Sundays are available, sorry.

*If we knew the value of the Holy Sacrifice of the

*How happy is that guardian angel who

St. John Maria Vianney

The memorial of Our Lady of Mount Carmel was established to commemorate her apparition to Saint Simon Stock on 16 July 1251. The Book of Kings recounts that on Mount Carmel the Prophet Elijah gathered a group of men to defend the purity of the Hebrew faith and won a challenge against the priests of the pagan god Baal. Inspired by this experience, a group of monks, following the Rule of Saint Basil, was established to imitate the prophet Elijah. There are traces going back to the 11th century with the arrival of the crusaders. Around 1154, the French nobleman Berthold retreated to this mountain when he arrived in Palestine with his cousin Aimery de Limoges, Patriarch of Antioch. He decided to gather the hermits to live a cenobitic life. These men religious built a small church that stood in the middle of their cells, dedicating it to the Blessed Virgin. They themselves took the name Brothers of the Blessed Virgin Mary of Mount Carmel. The Carmelites would gradually acquire their two defining elements: a reference to Elijah and a strong connection with Mary Most Holy. In addition, according to tradition, it was there that the Holy Family stopped on their return from Egypt.

Bonds of love, not of blood

On the day on which we celebrate the optional memorial of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, the liturgy presents this passage from the Gospel according to Matthew concerning the degree of familial relationship with Jesus. This degree that is not based on blood, but on imitation: Whoever does the will of my heavenly Father is my brother, and sister, and mother. Those who belong to “his family” become a member not through bonds of blood, or by practicing a common religion, but by a free and individual choice that is translated into the commitment to do the Father’s will.

Mary, the first disciple

To confirm what has just been said, Jesus himself responded to a woman who exalted Jesus’s Mother: Blessed is the womb that carried you and the breasts at which you nursed. He replied, Rather, blessed are those who hear the word of God and observe it. Mary is the one who knows how to listen, how to keep things in her heart, how to direct everyone to her Son – Do whatever he tells you. Mary is the one who never abandoned her Son Jesus, not even along the way of the Cross. She “stood” under the Cross. She is a disciple who never abandons the Lord Jesus, but who always follows him.

Mary, model for Christians (and Carmelites)

All of this leads to imitate the Virgin Mary. Just as the monks have been doing and still do on Mount Carmel, every Christian is called to look to Mary to learn from her, to entrust themselves to her intercession to guard “the purity of faith” against the idols of today’s ‘Baals’. Saint Simon Stock propagated the devotion to Our Lady of Mount Carmel and composed a beautiful hymn to her called the Flos Carmeli. Our Lady assured Saint Simon Stock those who died wearing the scapular would be freed from the pains of purgatory.

*Flower of Carmel, Tall vine blossom laden;
Splendor of heaven, Childbearing yet maiden.
None equals thee.*

*Mother so tender, Who no man didst know,
On Carmel's children Thy favors bestow.
Star of the Sea.*

*Strong stem of Jesse, Who bore one bright flower,
Be ever near us And guard us each hour,
who serve thee here.*

*Purest of lilies, That flowers among thorns,
Bring help to the true heart
That in weakness turns and trusts in thee.*

*Strongest of armor, We trust in thy might:
Under thy mantle,
Hard pressed in the fight, we call to thee.*

*Our way uncertain, Surrounded by foes,
Unfailing counsel
You give to those who turn to thee.*

*O gentle Mother Who in Carmel reigns,
Share with your servants
That gladness you gained and now enjoy.*

*Hail, Gate of Heaven,
With glory now crowned,
Bring us to safety
Where thy Son is found,
true joy to see.
Amen. (Alleluia.)*

From Fr. Cole Webster

In our Gospel this past weekend Jesus told us, "The harvest is abundant but the laborers are few; so ask the master of the harvest to send out laborers for his harvest." We are truly blessed for the second year in a row to have two seminarians assigned to our Family of Parishes for the summer, Seamus McCarthy and Luca LaNasa. Both have been making their rounds assisting at weekend Masses. During the week they minister at the Response to Love Center, the Mother Theresa House, Little Portion Friary, and St. Vincent de Paul. Having both completed their first year of formation, which is called the Propaedeutic Year, they focused on discernment, prayer, communal living, and service. This fall both Seamus and Luca will be attending the minor seminary, St. Mark's in Erie, PA where they will be attending college at Gannon University. Once their college studies are complete, they will then attend St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, MD. As we reflected on the above Scripture passage last week, both seminarians shared at the Masses they attended a bit of their background and what is drawing them to the priesthood.

At a diocesan meeting I attended a few weeks back, priest projections were shared which puts our diocesan restructuring efforts into more perspective. Five years ago in 2021, the diocesan projection was that by 2030 we would have 100 priests. As of today, we are at 98. That is five years ahead of schedule. Additionally, in the next 5 years 42 Active Priests will be able to retire. So in five years our diocese is projected to have only 53 active priests. The harvest is indeed abundant and the laborers few. Let us never stop praying for and encouraging our young people to consider priesthood or religious life!

ST. PAUL CENTER FOR BIBLICAL THEOLOGY

Fifteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time (Cycle C)

We are to love God and our neighbor with all the strength of our being, as the scholar of the Law answers Jesus in this week's Gospel.

This command is nothing remote or mysterious - it's already written in our hearts, in the book of sacred Scripture. "You have only to carry it out," Moses says in this week's First Reading.

Jesus tells His interrogator the same thing: "Do this and you will live."

The scholar, however, wants to know where he can draw the line. That's the motive behind his question: "Who is my neighbor?"

In his compassion, the Samaritan in Jesus' parable reveals the boundless mercy of God - who came down to us when we were fallen in sin, close to dead, unable to pick ourselves up.

Jesus is "the image of the invisible God," this week's Epistle tells us. In Him, the love of God has come very near to us. By the "blood of His Cross" - by bearing His neighbors' sufferings in His own body, being himself stripped and beaten and left for dead - He saved us from bonds of sin, reconciled us to God and to one another.

Like the Samaritan, He pays the price for us, heals the wounds of sin, pours out on us the oil and wine of the sacraments, entrusts us to the care of His Church, until He comes back for us.

Because His love has known no limits, ours cannot either. We are to love as we have been loved, to do for others what He has done for us - joining all things together in His Body, the Church.

We are to love like the singer of this week's Psalm - like those whose prayers have been answered, like those whose lives have been saved, who have known the time of His favor, have seen God in His great mercy turn toward us.

This is the love that leads to eternal life, the love Jesus commands today of the scholar, and of each of us - "Go and do likewise."
